

MURMURS & OUTCRIES, 2007

- Vilma Ginzberg

From Section 2, Aging and Body Parts:

A LITTLE MORE SO

compacted by the same Hand that shrinks continents, reroutes rivers,
I hear Earthmother
calling me home by inches skin more furrowed, step less sure, I walk the path

of diminishing sight, expanding vision ballooning gratitude balancing a body more dense,

passions softer, intent intense approach with wonder
my own true nature
becoming more me
the more I change
